

A migrant worker fills her bucket with sweet potatoes in Halifax County.

This lady's brightly colored red scarf, purple blouse, and floral skirt are in stark contrast to the dusty work she is doing in the field. This is one of two paintings in the series that depicts a scarf instead of a bandana. The bold red scarf is used to hold her blouse out of the way as she leans over to pick sweet potatoes.